NOTICE TO APPLICANTS
All septic systems must be properly abandoned when connecting to the sanitary sewer. When a structure is demolished, a septic system and water well must be properly abandoned unless they are to be re-used. An unabandoned tank can pose a safety hazard, if it were to collapse. An improperly maintained water well is a direct conduit to the water supply, which can cause contamination. To abandon a septic system, all tanks, leach wells, etc., must be pumped, crushed, and filled with inert fill material. Water wells must be abandoned in accordance with Ohio Administrative Code 3701-28, which requires an abandonment permit.
